STORYTIME IS BACK

Storytime is a great time for families with young children to get together and share the magic of early childhood....funny stories, trying times, getting a child to eat something green, singing, dancing, looking at books. It's also a great time to meet some of the other children your child will be going to school with.

Storytime is back. But not quite as usual. since we're still not all in the same room. But we can feel like we're all together. We sing, we dance to the songs, and we respond to the stories. Some of the toddlers and young children are sitting on the floor, others are eating a snack, and still others are sitting on their parents' or grandparents' laps, but everyone is singing along. And the adults can talk with each other!

Join us for what we hope will be the last few months of zoom Storytime. Email (staff@guilfordfreelibraryvt.org) or call (802-257-4603) to get the link on Mondays. The link is also posted on Front Porch Forum on the weekend.

TAB: A Woman of No Importance

Virginia Hall was one of the earliest Special Operations Executive agents Britain sent into occupied France to stir up resistance against the Nazi/Vichy regime, where she laid critical groundwork for an organized Resistance in southern France — and later led a cell herself. There have been other biographies, but Sonia Purnell's A Woman of No Importance is a gripping take, tracing Hall's life in the context of hurdles she faced from allies — as much as from enemies.

She was an unlikely choice for SOE field work; she was a woman, she was American, and she had a disability (a hunting accident left her with a wooden leg she called Cuthbert) that made her easy to identify. But the speedy Nazi takeover of Europe was more alarming than the usual prejudices, and in 1940 she was in France with only the barest brief — build a Resistance, no matter what.
